First Nations land claims have been under negotiation since 1665 in Canada. On a base map of Canada, shade the following areas using the Treaties and Comprehensive Land Claims in Canada map as a resource. You will only need four colours for this map, but do add all of the usual map essentials.

- Using one colour, shade the locations of the following settled First Nations land claims:
  - Gwich’in, NT (1992)
  - Inuvialuit, YT/NT (1984)
  - James Bay & Northern Quebec, QC (1975)
  - Labrador Inuit, NL (2005)
  - Nacho Nyak Dun, YT (1995)
  - Nisga’a, BC (1999)
  - Nunavut, NU (1999)
  - Sahtu, NT (1993)
  - Tlicho, NT (2003)
  - Tr'ondëk Hwëch’in, YT (1998)
  - Vuntut Gwich’in, YT (1995)

- Using a second colour, shade the locations of the following unsettled First Nations land claims:
  - Innu, QC/NL
  - Algonquins of Eastern Ontario, ON
  - Nunavik Marine Region, QC
  - Deh Cho, NT
  - Akaitech and South Slave, NT
  - the unsettled land claims areas in British Columbia
  - the unsettled land claims areas in Yukon Territory

- Using a third colour, shade the portions of Canada that are covered under a historical (numbered) treaty, or a Peace and Friendship Treaty, which include:
  - Nova Scotia
  - New Brunswick
  - Ontario (except for the Algonquins of Eastern Ontario claim)
  - Manitoba
  - Saskatchewan
  - Alberta
  - a portion of northeastern British Columbia
  - a small portion of southern Northwest Territories

- Using a light grey pencil crayon, shade the portions of Canada which have never been subject to a First Nations land claim, which include:
  - the Island of Newfoundland
  - Prince Edward Island
  - southern Quebec
  - portions of interior British Columbia
